

Children's Bulletin

Peter tells us all how to treat one another (v. 5).
 Write the name of each creature below in the space provided, and read down the yellow column.

“God opposes the proud, but gives grace to the

		_____	_____	_____	_____	_____
		_____	_____	_____	_____	_____
		_____	_____	_____	_____	_____
		_____	_____	_____	_____	_____
		_____	_____	_____	_____	_____
		_____	_____	_____	_____	_____

How does a good shepherd take care of his flock every day? Finish each sentence by matching the columns.

- | | |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|
| In the morning, he leads | a. from a running stream |
| The sheep drink | b. watches over them |
| If the sheep stray, he | c. trust him |
| In the darkness, he | d. them to safe pasture. |
| The sheep | e. brings them back. |

ELEPHANT	LION	HORSE
BEAR	UNICORN	MOUSE

Guidelines for Elders

Elders in the church (overseers) are like shepherds taking care of their sheep. Peter, “a fellow elder,” had some words for other elders. (1 Peter 5:1-4) Which man below would be a good elder? Check one box.

I think people expect me to be an elder. Anyway, there might be some advantage in it for me. I do like to be in charge.

OR

I want to serve God, and he is calling me to be an elder. I try to faithfully care for the people in this church and be a good example.

Guidelines for the Flock

Peter also had some words for younger members of the congregation (“the sheep”). Rearrange the tiles to read it.

b j e c t t o " B e s u

--	--	--	--	--

t h e e l d e r s . ”

1 Peter 5:5

